8.00 pm ~ The Letter from James

A twelve week series working our way through this essential letter from the first century. At times rather shocking, this letter is as relevant today as when first penned. Almost certainly written by one with a most intimate knowledge of Jesus, at a time when faith was in danger of becoming little more than a fashionable pastime, this letter has much to say about the reality of faith and the true nature of what we know as 'religion'.

Presenter: Patrick Boyns

Tuesday

3.00 pm ~ A Study of Job

Over twelve weeks through Job we will deal with the central problem of life: suffering. A good, righteous man loses everything. Why should he suffer? Why isn't evil punished? What is God doing? Answers everyone who's experienced pain or loss wants to know. Job's own heart is examined, his friends offer useless advice and the book reaches its climax by challenging God himself.

Presenter: Mark Hill

7.00 pm ~ Ecclesiastes

A twelve week series exploring the book of Ecclesiastes in which we find Solomon at the end of his life, searching for a meaning to his existence. After declaring everything futile and worthless, he examines all there is in life to discover a meaning in living. After trying everything life had to offer, he arrives at the real purpose of our existence. This is a search that many can relate to as we examine the priorities in our lives.

Presenter: Jon Galloway

Wednesday

A twelve week series examining Paul's letter to the Galatians and its central theme of justification by faith. Defending this teaching, in both its theological and practical ramifications, he also defends his position as an apostle in light of those who sought to discredit his character as a means to lead others astray.
